Philadelphia, November 22, 2023 – No matter the occasion, shoppers should be sure to check out the array of Black-owned and -operated shops, boutiques and bookstores in Philadelphia's thriving small business scene. These retail spots boast treasures like vintage clothing, colorful ceramics and beauty essentials for everyone on their list, as well as a wide range of experiences like spa packages and fitness classes.

Of course, this guide can only scratch the surface of the many great Black-owned shops and boutiques in Philadelphia. Explore this directory from The African American Chamber of Commerce of PA, NJ and DE for more Black-owned businesses throughout the region.

Those headed to Philly to shop are encouraged to stay the night with the Visit Philly Overnight Package and score great perks (like tickets to The Franklin Institute, the Philadelphia Museum of Art and more), free hotel parking (valued up to $100) and a cozy bed you don't have to make. Want to make a weekend out of it? The Visit Philly 3-Day Stay package is the gift that keeps on giving: Buy two nights and get your third night for free.

Read on for a curated list of just some of the city's standout Black-owned shopping destinations.

Bookstores

Atomic City Comics

Atomic City Comics, 638 South Street

Owned by Michael Yates and Darryl Jones, this classic comic book store, known for its wide selection of comics, graphic novels, manga, back issues, horror, sci-fi and old-school arcade games such as Street Fighter, has been a South Street mainstay since 2001.

Black and Nobel

VISIT PHILADELPHIA®

Black and Nobel, 422 South Street

More than a bookstore, this cultural center owned by Hakim Hopkins offers DVDs and an array of health and wellness products in a creative atmosphere. The shop also ships to prisons, offering incarcerated folks reading materials.

Hakim's Bookstore & Gift Shop

Hakim's Bookstore & Gift Shop, 210 S. 52nd Street

One of the country's oldest Black-owned bookstores — now an official historic site — resides at the same West Philly address where Dawud Hakim founded it more than 60 years ago. Historic, welcoming, old-school and family-friendly, the shop now belongs to Hakim's daughter, Yvonne Blake.

Harriett's Bookshop

Harriett's Bookshop, 258 E. Girard Avenue

This welcoming, Fishtown-based, women-centric, art- and activism-forward, frankincense-scented, named-for-Harriet Tubman bookstore is owned by Jeannine A. Cook, who opened it in February 2020. On its shelves: Toni Morrison's complete collection, works by Zora Neale Hurston, children's books and more titles that Cook herself loves to read.

Multiverse

Multiverse, 8026 Germantown Avenue

This is the stuff nerdy dreams are made of. Fans of speculative fiction (think science fiction, fantasy and horror) can find a lovingly curated assortment of comics and novels, alongside toys, games, posters, apparel and more on the shelves at Multiverse.

Uncle Bobbie's Coffee & Books

Uncle Bobbie's Coffee & Books, 5445 Germantown Avenue

Owner Marc Lamont Hill's Germantown hangout exudes community pride in its book selection and living-room vibe, a la Washington DC's acclaimed Busboys and Poets chain. This bibliophile's spot takes its name from the columnist and Temple University prof's favorite uncle, who nurtured his love of reading.

Boutiques & Retail Shops

Blk Ivy Thrift

Blk Ivy Thrift, 3605 Lancaster Avenue

VISIT PHILADELPHIA®

The latest project by Grant Blvd's own Kimberly McGlonn, Blk Ivy Thrift calls back to the work and aesthetic of the Civil Rights Movement, combining community engagement and activism with cultural artifacts and fashion. The West Philly shop curates vintage and second-hand clothing that challenges industry norms.

Common Ground

Common Ground, 134 S. 11th Street

This Midtown Village consigner owned by Phillip Moore offers exclusive collectible sneakers and vintage pieces — Adidas x Bad Bunny, retro Air Jordans — and features rare, sold-out merch from prominent sportswear brands like Supreme and Bape.

Damari

Damari, 72 N. 2nd Street

Former Eagles safety Malcolm Jenkins founded this men's boutique to redefine modern custom suiting with creativity, styling and precise tailoring — all while keeping culture at the forefront. The shop stocks men's suits, jackets, sweats, along with custom suits and pocket squares. They're open by appointment only or online any time.

Dolly's Boutique & Consignment

Dolly's Boutique & Consignment, 6778 Germantown Avenue

The stylish set loves that this shop — owned by Shani Newton — carries women's clothing for all sizes (small through triple extra-large), ages and budgets. On the racks: pant sets, stylish separates, maxi dresses and on-point accessories.

Grant Blvd

Grant Blvd, 140 S. 34th Street

When she started her line of women's clothing and accessories in 2017, Kimberly McGlonn prioritized three things: sourcing reclaimed fabrics, manufacturing exclusively in Philadelphia, and supporting incarcerated and returning citizens. And she's just as committed to that mission today. With a new flagship in University City, devotees of the shop can score fashion-forward skirt and crop top sets, denim, dresses and men's clothing.

Kylie Rose Fashions

Kylie Rose Fashion, 506 Main Street, Darby

A self-taught seamstress, Shaelia Dawkins creates high-end formal and prom dresses as well as streetwear, like tracksuits, T-shirts, and hoodies for men and women. Covering both ends of the style spectrum, Kylie Rose Fashions carries attire for red carpets and lazy weekends alike.

Love Yourself by Shea Elizabeth

Love Yourself by Shea Elizabeth, 503 S. 52nd Street

Across the street from West Philadelphia's Malcolm X Park, Love Yourself by Shea Elizabeth is a chic boutique that helps women create their own definition of cool with a great selection of shoes, jackets, dresses, jumpsuits and more.

Moore Vintage Archive

Moore Vintage Archive, 725 S. 4th Street

Fresh on the Fabric Row scene, Moore Vintage Archive is the place where you can find vintage Chanel, Gucci, Hermes and more women's designer fashion. Owner Keesean Moore stocks the shop with timeless dresses, jackets, sets and books from Black authors.

Mount Airy Candle Co.

Mount Airy Candle Co., 633 W. Rittenhouse Street, Unit #3, and at select retailers including Occasionette, 1825 E. Passyunk Avenue

Hand-poured, uniquely scented candles are the star attraction for this growing business founded by owner Marques Davis in 2018. Online and at select Pennsylvania retail locations, devotees can purchase candles in fun scents like grapefruit and vetiver, passionfruit and plum, lavender clouds, and tobacco noire.

The Movement Philly

The Movement Philly, 7133 Germantown Avenue

Founded by friends (and former business competitors) Aaron Johnson and Bruce Tabbs, The Movement Philly specializes in handmade clothing, T-shirts, tie-dye, jewelry and vegan bath and beauty products. The Mt. Airy shop was featured in a "Buying Black" segment on Philly's Fox 29 TV station in 2020.

Retro Rewind Vintage & Thrift

Retro Rewind Vintage & Thrift, 2804 W. Girard Avenue

After operating as a mobile boutique, Retro Rewind Vintage & Thrift opened a brick and mortar in Brewerytown (you can't miss its neon yellow facade). Founded by Tia Whitfield, the shop stocks both women and men's fashions, from blazers and dresses to denim and T-shirts.

Senoj Clothing

Senoj Clothing, 1609 South Street

This South Street boutique is owned by Charrita Jones, who curates the shop's collection of "effortlessly chic" women's apparel. The vibe at Senoj is all about empowering women to be comfortable in their own skin. The shop offers all kinds of looks, from bodysuits and outerwear to skirts, dresses and sunglasses.

Accessories

Blue Sole Shoes

Blue Sole Shoes, 1805 Chestnut Street

Owner Steve Jamison, a fashion footwear specialist, established his sunny Rittenhouse Square boutique in 2007 to cater to high-end tastes in men's shoes, socks and accessories — and to provide high-quality customer service. Among the designers in stock: Harris, Magnanni, John Galliano and Les Hommes.

Philadelphia Diamond Company

Philadelphia Diamond Company, 421 Chestnut Street

Custom engagement and wedding rings, one-of-a-kind pieces and gemologist-certified appraisals are the reason clients call ahead to book appointments at this Old City jewelry shop, owned by Ken and Nicole Black.

Style by Blain

Style by Blain, 8433 Germantown Avenue

With a showroom featuring a pool table, elegant wooden side tables and a beautiful fireplace to display his unique selection of shoes, owner Voltaire Blain — known as the best-dressed man in Chestnut Hill — strives to make shopping for shoes an experience like no other. His shop carries a wide selection of hard-to-find shoes, including loafers, oxfords, and both high- and low-cut boots for men, as well as several styles for women.

Lifestyle

Amazulu Collections

Amazulu Collections, Reading Terminal Market, 51 N. 12th Street

Online Only

All Caps Studio

Founded in 2018, this Philly fashion photographer-turned-designer Saeed Ferguson has infused nature and positivity into his designs, creating a streetwear line that includes graphic T-shirts, tote bags, hoodies, and more.

Black Soul Vintage

This Germantown-based online shop features Black texts, ephemera, art and home goods that inspire an Afro-centric lifestyle, curated by owner Tomarra Sankara-Kilombo. In addition to vintage books, online shoppers can snag vinyl records and clothing, too.

Buddha Babe

Tina Dixon Spence creates and sells luxurious but practical items for babies, toddlers and the home. Popular offerings include blankets, swaddles, bibs, burp cloths, teething rings, scarves, clothing, cards, gift boxes and more.

Bungee Oblečení

Founder Darrell Alston began sketching shoe designs (over 250 of them to be exact) while incarcerated. Following his release from prison, Alston launched Bungee Oblečení (a nod to his life's many ups and downs) in 2018, promoting flashy conversation-starting designs. You can find the luxury sneaker and athleisure brand in select boutiques throughout Philadelphia — and online.

Brown Girls Can

VISIT PHILADELPHIA®

Philadelphia native Tanysha Powell helms this online company, founded as a tribute to the Brown women who raised her. On offer: handmade jewelry, apparel, candles and more. Pro tip: Don't miss the shop's hand-poured Intention Setting Candles.

D'Iyanu

Founded in King of Prussia, online shop D'Iyanu carries a co-ed line of ready-to-wear, bold print and African-inspired blazers, pants, scarves, maxi dresses, skirts and jumpsuits. Owner Addie Elabor founded the shop with her brother, Dara Ajayi, and named their brand using a combination of the words "miracle" and "wonderful" from their native Yoruba language.

DNA Floral

The mother-daughter duo of Nicole and Domino Mack designs and creates flower arrangements to tailor any unique style, prioritizing local resources and sustainable efforts. They offer fresh, seasonal floral arrangements as well as dried botanicals, ranging from extravagant show stopping features to elegant centerpieces.

Emotional Therapy

The brainchild of Myles Nicholls — aka Malo — Emotional Therapy's line of sweatsuits and t-shirts was born out of a time when that's all he was wearing: the Covid lockdown. Popular items include beanies with bear ears, sweatsuits and hoodies.

Expressionz By Faith

Philadelphia native Imani (whose first name means Faith) is the self-taught seamstress behind this online-only clothing store for women. On offer: custom tunics and hijabs influenced by Imani's passion for helping women channel their inner beauty.

Flourishing Beauty and Wellness

Flourishing Beauty and Wellness encourages consumers to indulge in self-care with a soothing cup of organic tea and organic skincare products with natural ingredients. The online-only company, which Charisse Nelson opened in 2020, offers loose-leaf teas with delightful names like Brain Love and Mellow Out and skin-care serums.
